New features in Smart Label software.

Our newest version of Smart Label software supports Vista and Mac OS X, and is CITRIX/2003 ready. We also make it easy to customize your labels, mix fonts, import graphics, use bar codes and print Post Office approved postal barcodes. To download the latest version of our software visit our web site: www.siibusinessproducts.com.

Capture images with Camera Acquire.

With our new Camera Acquire feature you can capture and insert a snapshot directly from a web camera without cutting and pasting. With a few simple clicks you can take a picture with an installed web cam and it will appear on the label template where you can easily adjust the contrast and brightness.

You can use pictures on name badges for identity or security, creating custom address labels or picture labeling.

Camera Acquire supports a wide variety of web cams.

Generate GS1-128 barcodes.

Now you can create GS1-128 barcodes – formerly known as UCC/EAN-128. This barcode is the standard way of labeling packages with more than just a product code. It provides supplemental information such as batch number and "use before" dates. The United States Postal Service uses GS1-128 to uniquely identify mail pieces and the type of services requested.

You can insert data to barcode fields and we have added "Mode" and "Security" settings for 2D barcodes.

Make your office the Post Office.

Now you can print USPS approved postage with your Smart Label Printer and Stamps.com software. You will be able to import delivery addresses automatically from MS Outlook and many other popular address books or contact management programs. Easily add or edit addresses and print postage directly from MS Word, Outlook and Corel WordPerfect.

Print addresses and postage in one simple step, easily creating shipping labels. Use our SLP-FW for package and large envelope labels. You can also give your mail and packages a customized look by adding graphics and logos. Visit www.Stamps.com for more information and to download their software.
