Product Description

This range of insulated earth straps (also known as shunt wires, grounding straps or braided harnesses) from RS PRO offer a variety of straps made of copper with green and yellow polyolefin insulated sleeves, providing RFI generated currents with a low impedance path. These high quality earth straps with insulation are ideal for use with enclosure panels in a wide range of electrical applications and are available in a range of sizes. These durable and reliable straps feature a wide temperature range of -55 to +135°C, making them a highly versatile earth strap for use in a range of environments.
